DEDICATION

MISS MARGARET C. MANVEL

"The only gift is a portion of thyself."

Emerson

To give to others of oneself is truly the noblest gift of all. As a result of one person with this capacity for giving to others, many people are fortunate enough to become the recipients of help, guidance and interest. We, the Class of 1965, would like to honor such a person, Miss Margaret Manvel, with the dedication of our yearbook to her in gratitude and in recognition of the many things she has done so willingly throughout the years for all the students here at Pittsfield High School.

Miss Manvel makes an outstanding contribution to the school not only with her work in the Home Economics Department, but also behind the scenes in almost all of our high school activities. Known as a person upon whom one can always depend, Miss Manvel performs such diverse activities on her own time as laundering the equipment for the athletic teams, helping with the costuming and makeup for class plays and musicals, assisting with the Cadette fashion shows, and chaperoning the Cadettes' trips to Washington. Any school organization from G.A.A. to Prom refreshment committees knows the way to Room 66 for help from Miss Manvel. She does all these things quietly, efficiently, and tirelessly without a thought to personal recognition or thanks.

We all appreciate the deep and sincere concern Miss Manvel has for our welfare, and we will always remember her many kindnesses and cherish our special gift — that part of herself she has so generously given to us.

Future homemakers learn under her expert guidance.

Not many high school classes end with dessert!

FOREWORD

As we, the graduating seniors of Pittsfield High School, look back over the past three years, we become more aware of what an important period this has been in our lives. It has been a time of constant striving toward greater knowledge of ourselves, our world, and the meaning of life. In our search for this knowledge we have been guided by teachers, by parents, and by friends, but always in the end the conclusions we have reached have been our own.

Through our seeking for a better understanding of the complex world we face, we have gained a greater insight into ourselves. Many of us are still uncertain about our place in the world and what goals we wish to achieve. In these three years we have just begun a search that will last all our lives. Never will we have all the answers, but here at Pittsfield High we have made a start.

The Dome is a record of what has transpired in our high school years — of many of the people and events that have influenced us during our search for fulfillment.

MR. MILON HERRICK

The Class of 1965 extends its sincere thanks to Mr. Milon Herrick, our class advisor, whose inexhaustible patience, eagerness to help and advise, willingness to work long hours, and desire to know each member of our class individually has given us all beautiful memories of our junior and senior year activities.

GUIDANCE

The Guidance Office is always a busy place, but senior year we haunt it even more, looking for assistance and information which our counselors are always ready to extend.

MRS. NITA LAMB, MISS CONSTANCE KEEGAN,
MISS ELIZABETH HEARN
Counselors for Girls

MRS. GLADYS HICKEY AND MRS. MILDRED QUINN
Office Staff

MESSRS. DONALD SOMMER, WILLIAM HAYES,

Faculty

Messrs. Donald Anderson, Donald Kasuba, Howard Brookner, David Peirce, and Edward Shields.

Miss Elizabeth Currier, Librarian.

Mrs. Patricia O'Leary, Miss Rosemary Haylon, Chairman; Miss Lauretta Gultinan and Miss Ellen Verchot.

ENGLISH

Oral and written communication is one of the most important things taught in any high school. By reading what others have to say about men and life we can better understand ourselves and our environment. By learning how to write and speak clearly we can better convey our thoughts to others. We owe the English Department our thanks for giving us this knowledge of self-expression which is so necessary and valuable in every work field.

Miss Margaret Hoffman, Mrs. Sheila Schlawin and Miss June Tierney.

Mr. Joseph Fox, Mrs. Julia Solnica and Mrs. Marlene Budd.

Miss Barbara Burgner.

Seated: Miss Joanne McMahon and Miss Dorothy Margolin. Standing: Messrs. Thomas Rodhouse, John Reagan, and Philip Pomerantz.

SOCIAL STUDIES

Current events, specific incidents, causes and effects—these are all part of our ever-growing world, past, present and future. We can apply the past causes to the current events, and the present incidents to the future effects. This is history, history in the making. This is the knowledge we have gained from our teachers, from those who planned field-trips to the U.N. and to Hyde Park, from those who guided our stock investments on Wall Street, and from those who brought to life the past and the present of the United States, of Europe and of the world.

Messrs. Edward Brophy, Joseph Gleason, and Francis Moynihan.

Miss Margaret Kaliher, Chairman, and Miss Florence Coffey.

Messrs. Clarence Carey, William Ryan, and George Callaghan.

Mr. Francis Fazio and Miss Josephine Scelsi.

Miss Eileen Daly, Mr. David Quinlan and Mrs. Jane Susich.

FOREIGN LANGUAGES

No effort is spared in the struggle to make us fluent in French, German, Spanish or Latin. A well-equipped language laboratory provides many challenging experiences. Even in the individual classrooms the audio-lingual approach is used as the faculty strives to expose each student to the social and cultural background of the country as well as to the language.

Miss Margaret Curtin and Mr. Bernard Gravelle.

Messrs. Robert Hall, Robert Edwards and Miss Helene Millet, Chairman.

Mr. Robert Kriger, Chairman.

Miss Jane Heaphy and Mr. Gregg Voci.

COMMERCIAL

The members of the Commercial Department work hard to develop responsible young people to meet the demands of an ever-changing business world. In addition to the usual commercial subjects, the department offers a computer course taught on the latest I.B.M. machines.

Miss Helene Carmel and Miss Elizabeth Enright.

Miss Theresa Battaini, Mrs. Marion Smith and Miss Doris Carmel.

Mrs. Virginia Hannigan, Mrs. Jean Goldstein, Mrs. Josephine Arena, Mrs. Ann Robertson, and Mrs. Jane Gregoire. Absent: Mrs. Charlotte Gero.

OFFICE STAFF

In the main office a patient, dedicated group of women brings order out of chaos in the ever-growing mountain of paper work that attends the running of a good high school.

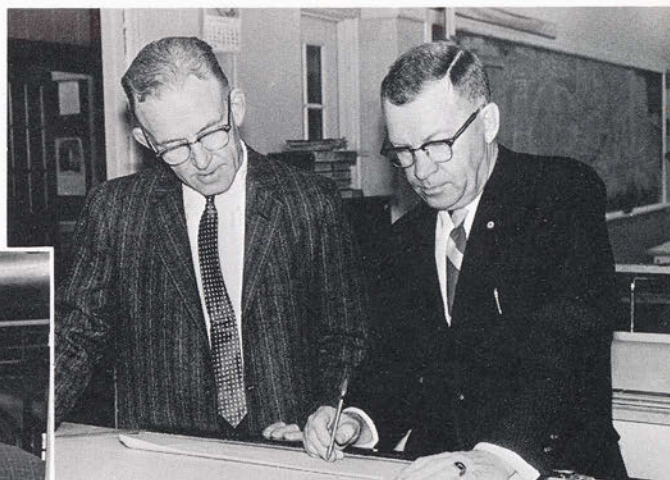

Messrs. Emilio Landy, Alphonse Caprio, George Klupfel, Edmund Strzepa, and Daniel Minneci.

Messrs. Howard Kraay, Hunter Robertson, James Driscoll and Joseph Molitor.

TECHNICAL

Small in size but great in results, the technical faculty turns out students welcomed in engineering and technical schools throughout the country.

Messrs. Myles Burke and Asel Harvey.

Messrs. William Shea, Jesse Haffly and Richard O'Donnell.

Messrs. Louis Gasson, Donald Clark and Michael Morrison.

VOCATIONAL

The Pittsfield High School Vocational School offers courses ranging from printing to auto-mechanics. Over the years many young men have learned here the vocational skills which have won them positions in local industries and in vocational institutes of higher learning.

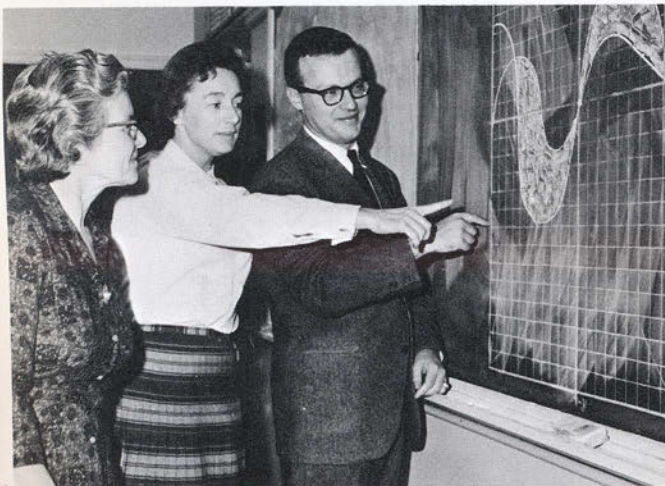

SCIENCE

Today we live in a scientific age, an age of discovery. Science has never been more important. Our high school, with courses ranging from General Science to Advanced Physics, Chemistry and Biology, offers every student a chance to share in the wonders of modern science.

Messrs. William Murray, Corneluis McMahon and Edward Blagdon.

Messrs. Francis Jaehnert, Edward Daley, Frank Blowe, Mrs. Frances Guiltinan and Mr. John Leahy, Chairman.

Mrs. Florence Henderson, Mrs. Amy West and Mr. Gilbert French.

Seated: Misses Pauline Kelly and Gladys Archey. Standing: Messrs. Raymond Drainville, William Broderick, Chairman, and Milon Herrick.

MATHEMATICS

Aware that mathematics is vital in a day of computers, automation, quality control and programming, our faculty have added to the traditional geometry, algebra and trigonometry, many new approaches such as modern mathematics and probability.

HOME ECONOMICS

Miss Marion Willis, Chairman, and Miss Margaret Manvel.

DRIVER EDUCATION

Messrs. Reginald Thompson and Frank Maiorano.

MUSIC

Dr. Morton Wayne and Miss Estelle Alphonse.

RETAIL SALES

Miss Ann Nugent.

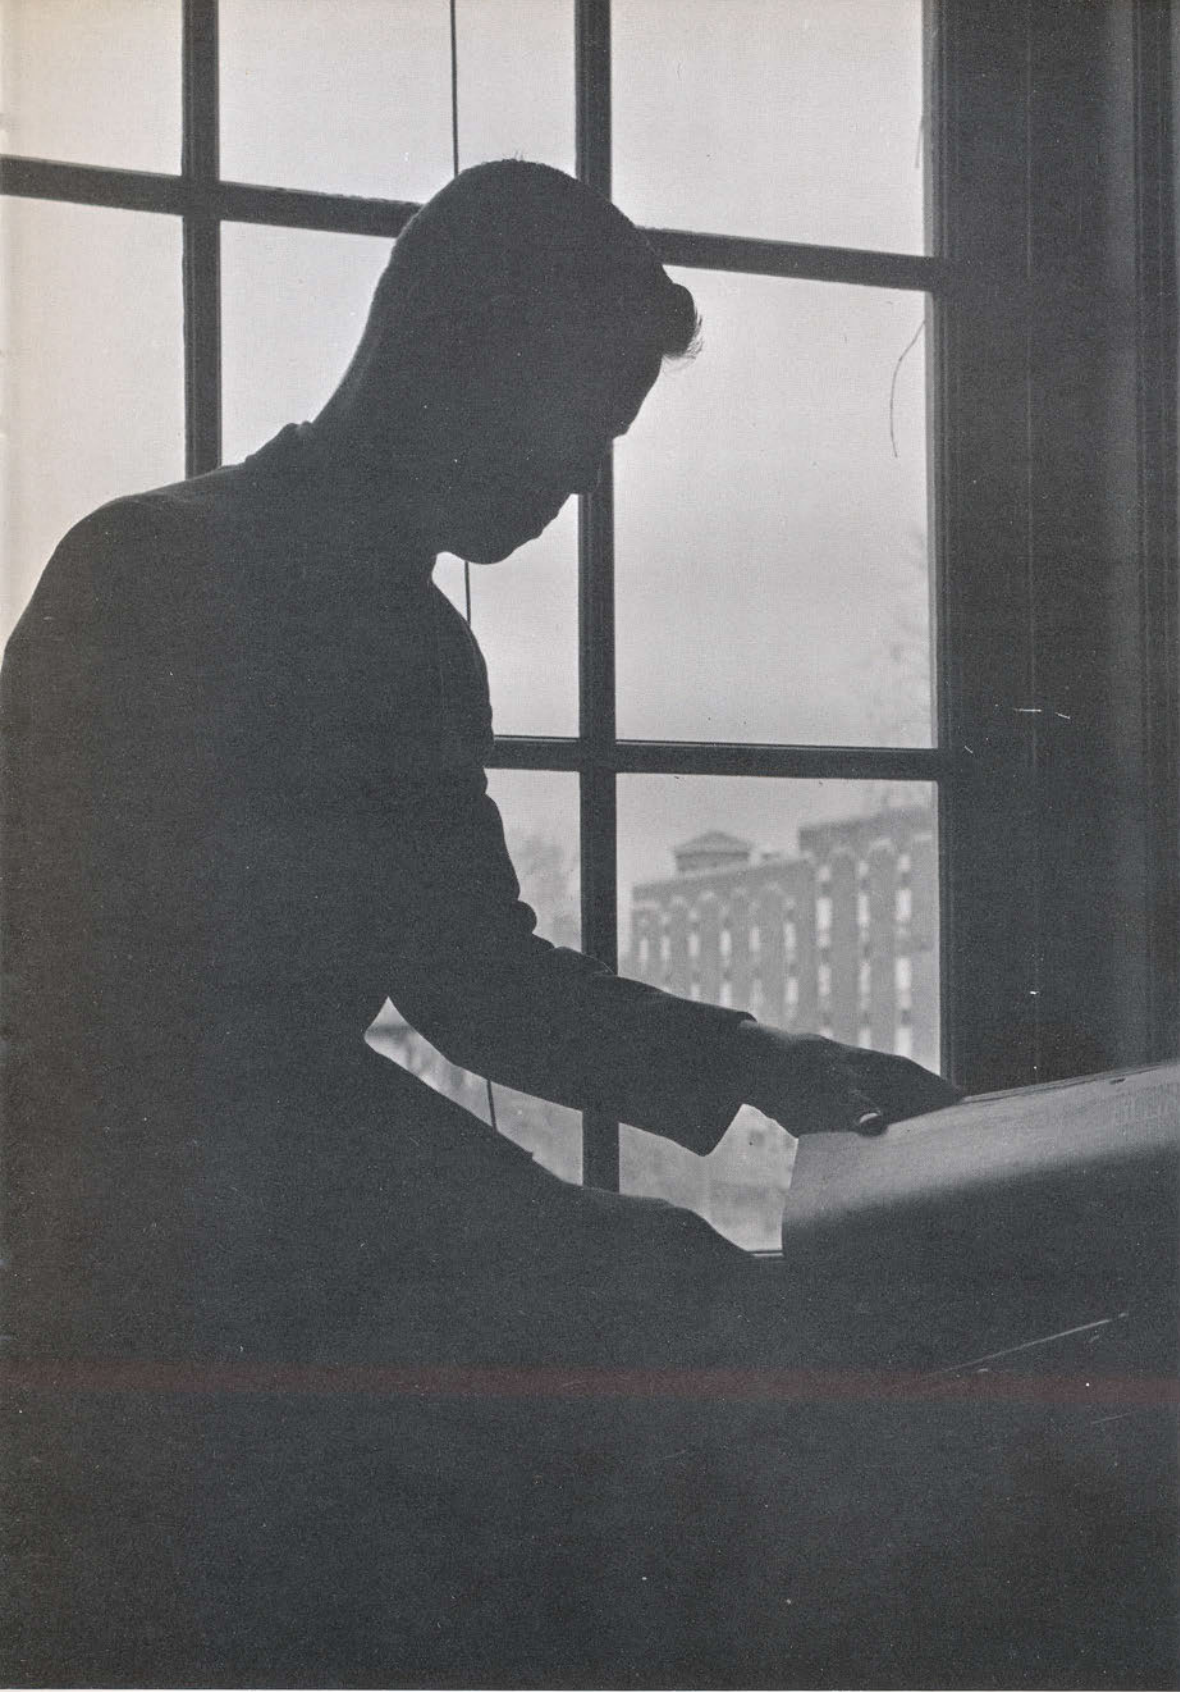

PHYSICAL EDUCATION

Messrs. George Sylvester; Rudolph Benedetti, Chairman;
Miss Helen McNaughton, Chairman; and Miss Jean Morgan.

Classroom Scenes

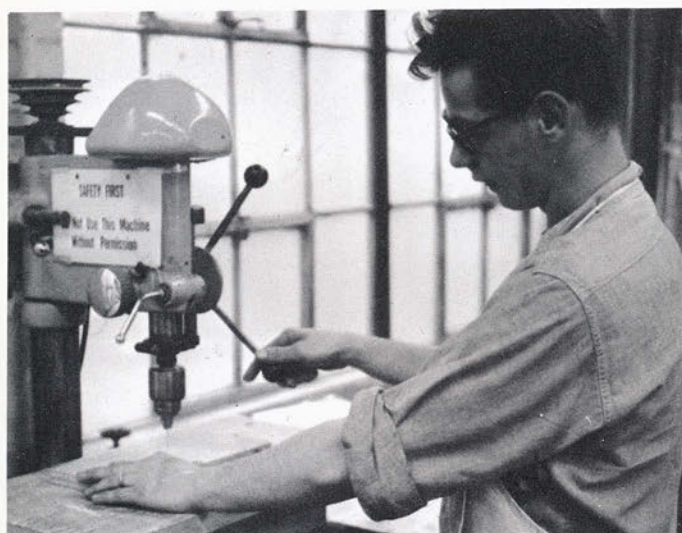

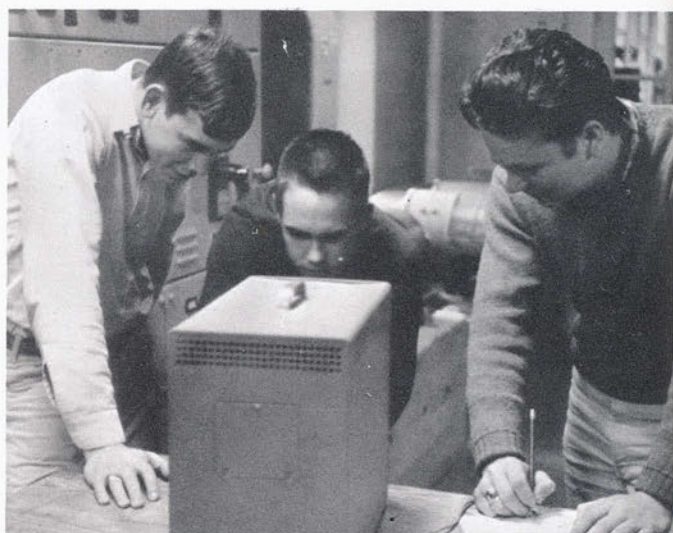

A crowded moment before the bell.

When a casual passer-by views Pittsfield High School, he is likely to observe only the symmetrical architecture, the ivied walls, and the imposing dome. Outwardly the building appears undisturbed, even tranquil. But this calm facade is paradoxically misleading, for inside the school a ceaseless search is rededicated and renewed every day — the insatiable search for knowledge.

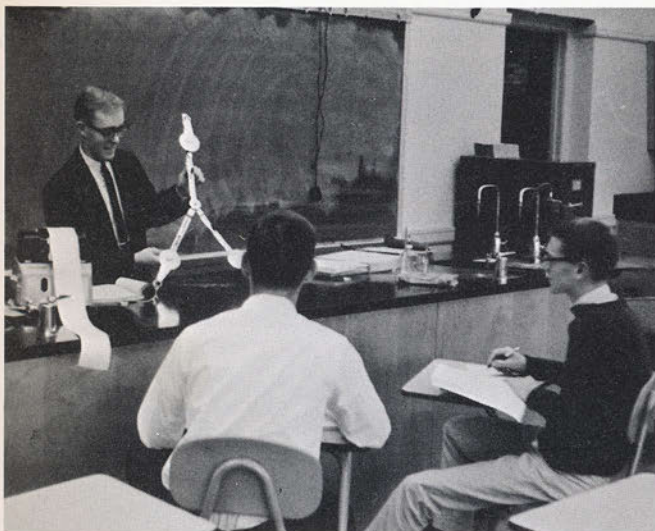

The day begins ...

Alone, he applies his skill.

Together they seek technical answers.

Jeff explains force vectors in physics.

"I know it's not alive, but it's eating my finger."

... differently for everyone.

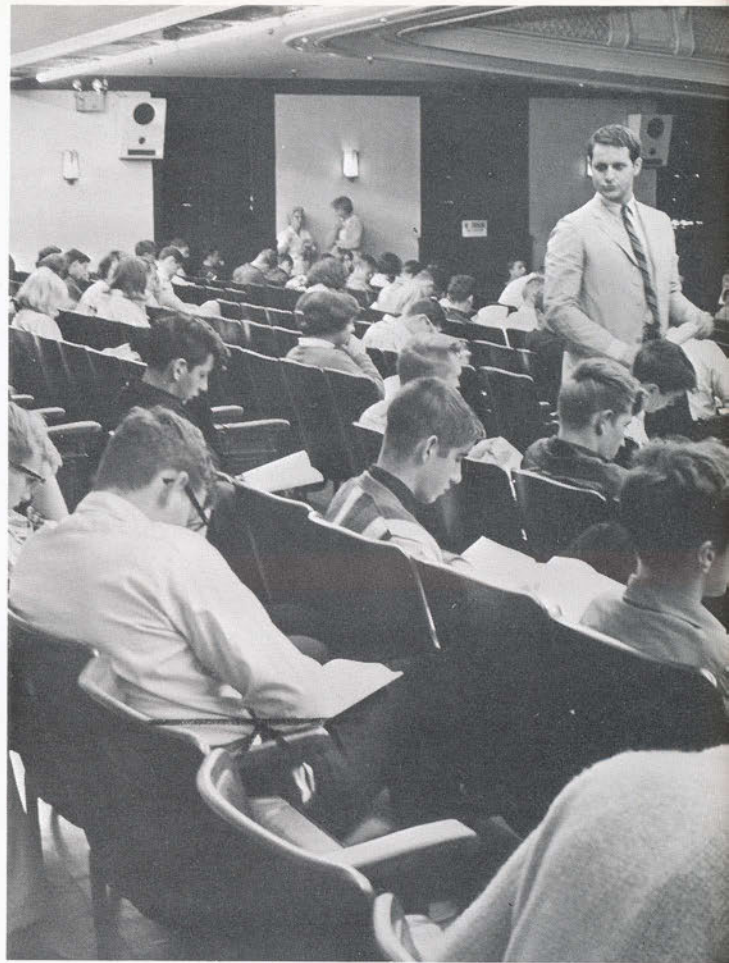

Our future auto mechanics.

An inevitable part of English—panel discussion.

The morning is spent in concentrated study. Students learn self-expression in English, acquire a mercantile sense in Retail Sales, explore the complex world of Senior Mathematics and perhaps catch up on their ever increasing work in study hall.

They all look reasonably silent.

So the morning passes until ...

DECA works on one of its many projects.

Mr. French expounds.

LUNCH!

After this all too brief respite, the classes continue. Young people cluster around a history globe, a home arts sewing machine or language laboratory earphones.

"Who said America is green and beautiful?"

"If I sew my finger one more time, I'll —."

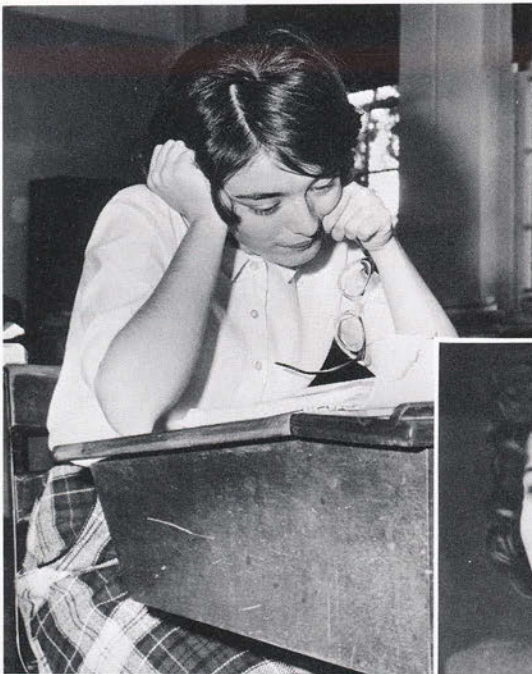

The audio-lingual approach to education.

But these hours are composed of much more than a series of class periods. In the school rooms, corridors, and, above all, in the heart of every student there are varying measures of . . .

Day's End!

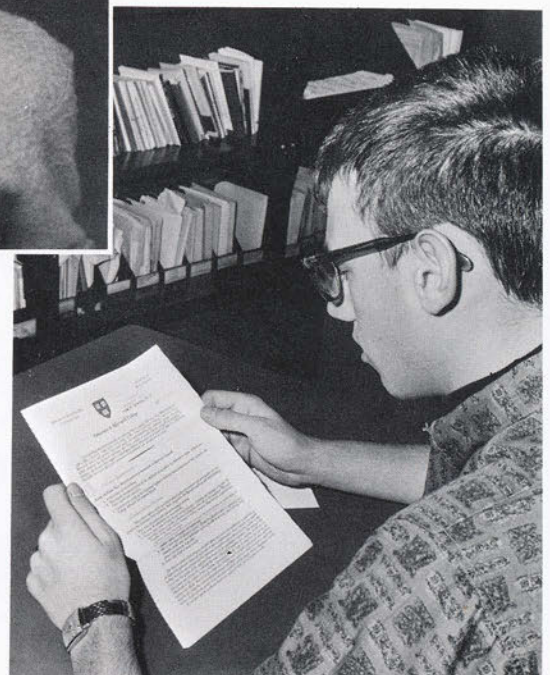

Temporary discouragement

Unabashed joy

These three emotions alone tell the story of a day at Pittsfield High School.

And, undeniably, hope.

JUNIOR PROM

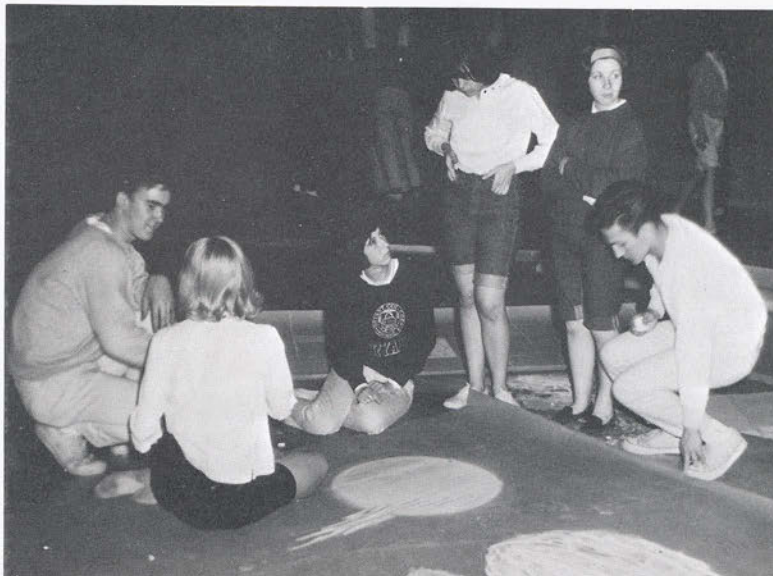

"What do you mean, you lost the tape?"

"Next we get to play in the sand-box."

"No, it isn't artificial snow!"

"Don't look so discouraged, kids!"

MOON RIVER

The Junior Prom, our first activity as a class, was an exciting experience for all who attended. Chairmen Pat Coughlin and Dom Caparello worked untiringly with our energetic committees to make it a success. Using the theme "Moon River," Decoration Co-Chairmen Anne Sildoja and George Davis transformed the gym into a striking study of blues and greens. Modern design panels were interspaced with murals of water scenes, creating a pleasantly cool effect. The cypress tree laden with Spanish moss was the central motif.

It was a night of memories. "Sweet and Gentle," the first song, was dedicated to our adviser, Mr. Herrick. Then to the music of Ernie St. John's orchestra, we danced to our favorite tunes. Highlighting the evening, after our Grand March, was the selection of our queen, Janice Tower. We shall always remember that May evening — our farewell to a rewarding junior year.

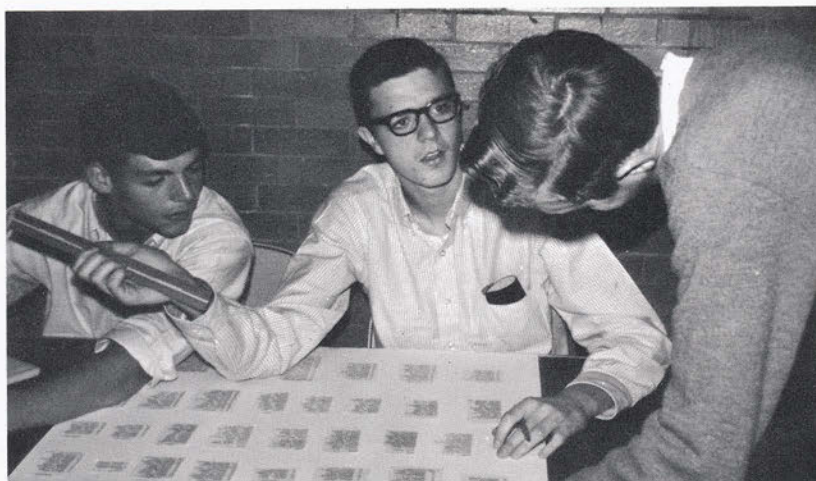

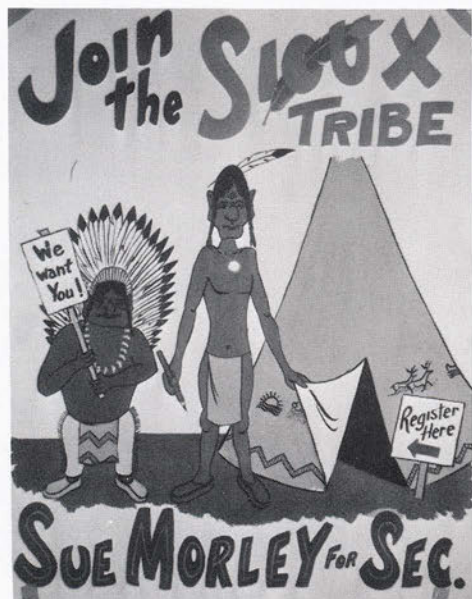

"There must be some way of reading this thing!"

"Sure, it's a schmoo!"

"You're not on the list. Out!"

ELECTIONS

The elections at P.H.S. can prove to be interesting, enjoyable, nerve-racking or disappointing.

A frolicking group of would-be candidates with nomination papers fly about the halls, each hopefully trying to get some fifty-plus names on his paper. Posters are plastered all over the cafeteria, and name tags are hung from shirts, pocketbooks, or any easily accessible place. At the speech assembly the candidates nervously give their reasons for running for office. The election committee works hard on the primary and final election returns. All who participate display genuine interest in their student government, an attribute necessary to help make any class a successful one.

1964 marked another successful season for our football team. With Grieve the only returning starter in the backfield, P. H. S. was expected to experience a lean year in football, while building for the future. Our opponents, however, found themselves meeting a well-drilled team which had the will to win and overcame inexperience with a fighting spirit. They found that Grieve had a fine backfield behind him and a solid line in front of him.

Many people were surprised when the young P. H. S. squad reeled off six straight victories, and almost everyone agreed that, with better breaks, the number could have been nine. But our success came as no surprise to the most avid P. H. S. fans, the students themselves. We knew that with such rugged linemen as Bill Stanhope, "Rusty" Rustic, and Bob James, such fast ends as Ray Millard, John Finn, and Dick Klemansky, and such a hard-running back as Mike Massaconi, our team would be much better than critics had expected.

Coach Gleason congratulates Co-Captains Stanhope and Rustic.

In the fall of 1964, for the first time in its history, Pittsfield High School fielded a varsity soccer team. Because of interest in intramural programs in previous years, the school committee appointed Mr. Ralph Gionet to coach the new sport. Approximately eighty boys reported for spring training, but after a strenuous two week session before the start of school, this number was cut to twenty-five. The team prepared for competition by participating in scrimmages and in a soccer clinic at Cranwell School. Though their record was only 1-6, the boys played well for their first year, and the coach expects that the returning members will profit by their experience and bring more success to P.H.S. next season.

han. Standing: Coach McKeever, J. Wilk, J. Moore, E. Thomasson, M. Smith, T. Fleming, Coach Moynihan, D. Sturma, R. Kasuba, A. Borelli, J. Johnson, J. Schermerhorn, Coach Callahan.

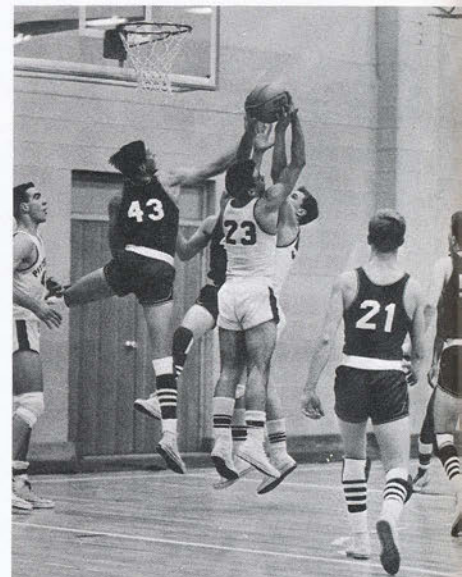

The 1964-1965 basketball season at P.H.S. was marked by persistence and drive. From the first game the squad displayed the outstanding spirit which enabled them to gain victories over other more experienced teams. However, in spite of their keen desire to win, the team was unable to overcome such handicaps as lack of height and experienced players. Even so, the team still might have placed higher in the final league standings if it were not for the serious illness which incapacitated Co-Captain Tommy Grieve early in the season.

Perhaps the most hopeful characteristic of this year's season was the promise it showed for next year. There were many competent sophomores and juniors on the squad. If these boys can retain this year's fine spirit, with the experience they have gained, Pittsfield High will be headed for another championship.

Millard grabs a rebound.

This year was our hockey team's first year in the Western Massachusetts Hockey League, a league composed of forty teams in the Springfield area; our boys finished the year with a record of four wins, eleven losses, and three ties. This year's record included wins over Chicopee Comprehensive, East Longmeadow,

Holyoke, and Springfield Commercial, as well as ties with Westfield, Agawam, and Cathedral. Coach Blowe called Bill Stanhope "the most consistently good player on the squad," and he termed Paul Fezzie "the most improved."

Absent: C. Fenton, W. Bach.

Although a desperate lack of snow canceled seven meets this season, the ski team developed fine form and endurance, mainly because of rigorous cross-country training. Having already swept a quadrangular jumping meet, the team faced the county championships with a quiet sense of confidence mingled with caution and charged with fierce concentration and drive. With great team effort in the opening cross-country event, the team piled up the nearly perfect score of 99.6 of a possible 100. Lengthening this early lead by fine performance in all events, Pittsfield won its fifth consecutive Berkshire Interscholastic Ski Meet.

Lamke, Coach George Sylvester. Absent: R. Martin, C. Perkins, G. Milotte, M. Wechter, M. Pedroza, M. Massaconi, D. Bell, M. Wolfe.

The newly-organized Wrestling Team started the year with a meet against the Bennington High School Varsity. Although they were defeated, our boys showed promise for future meets. After another defeat at the hands of Springfield Tech, Pittsfield's wrestlers had enough experience to win its final two meets, against Hoosic Prep and Darrow Prep, by substantial margins, thus ending with a 2-2 record.

Pittsfield entered the first Western Massachusetts Tournament and made a fine showing, as three Pittsfield boys (Stanhope, Milotte, and Arpante) advanced to the State Meet.

In previous years, wrestling was conducted on an intramural level. Coach Alphonse hopes that wrestling will be a varsity sport next year, with the team entering the Western Massachusetts High School Wrestling League.

GYMNASTICS

The Gymnastic Club has been performing at Pittsfield High School under Coach Rudy Benedetti for the past seven years. The club meets twice weekly from early fall to early spring. An exhibition is presented before the public every other year. Coach Benedetti hopes that eventually gymnastics will become an interscholastic sport, with Pittsfield's gymnasts entering the Western Massachusetts Gymnastic League.

INTRAMURAL

"I wish my T-shirt hadn't shrunk."

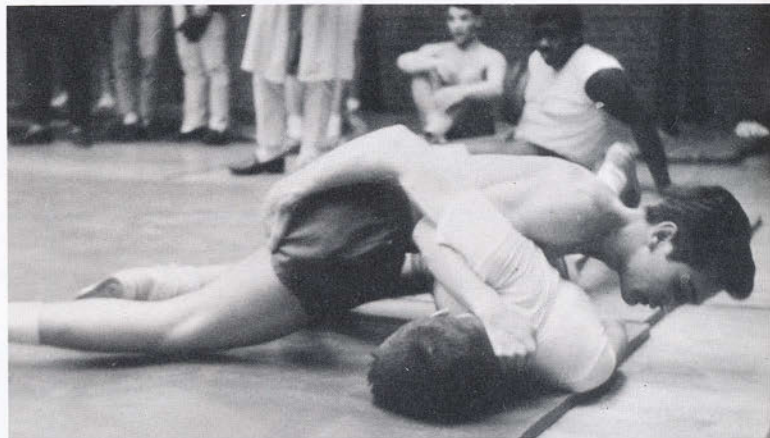

Although they do not make headlines as interscholastic sports do, intramural sports are an important part in PHS extracurricular activities. This year, the popularity of intramural activities was evidenced by the large number of participants. Intramural sports include soccer, volleyball, table tennis (ping pong), basketball, softball, track, wrestling, and gymnastics.

FIELD HOCKEY

"Ha, Ha! I got that one!"

Pouring rain, dust-choked fields — name it. We've had it! At the close of a fun-filled and action-packed field hockey season, the spirited senior team emerged victorious.

"How did that happen?"

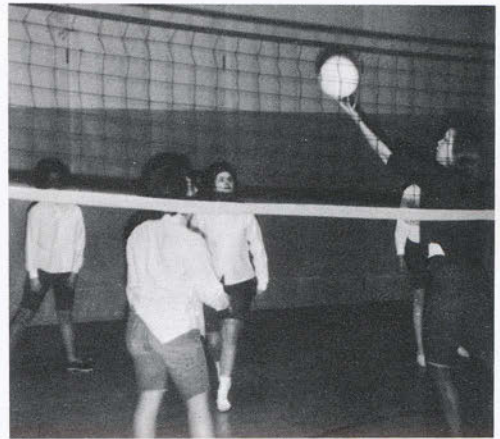

"Look behind you, Fran!"

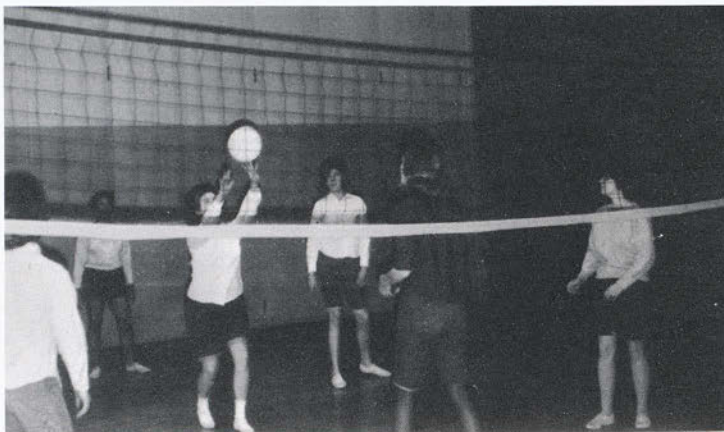

Kneeling: Christine Eulian, Patricia Johnston. Standing: Francine Duda, Marguerite Geer, Mary Whitman, Manzel Harrington, Diane Curley, Janet Richards, and Paulette Pariselli.

VOLLEYBALL

The volleyball season came to an exciting finale with the senior varsity victorious. Games were thrilling and action-packed; but, even in the face of defeat, all teams displayed skill and sportsmanship.

BASKETBALL

"Hands off! It's mine!"

"What is this — tackle basketball?"

Moving in for the kill

Super-charged with ability and the desire to win, the senior girls fought off all underclass opposition and with tremendous team effort were victorious. With the basketball crown in their pockets, they became proud triple champions of 1965.

G.A.A. BOARD AND OFFICERS

Looks as if Fran and Marguerite have designs on that pizza!

Devoted to good fun and sportsmanship, the Girls' Athletic Association offers year-round participation in various social and athletic events. The girls enthusiastically enjoyed the pizza party, after-school sports, Christmas caroling, and a trip to the Ice Capades. The highlight, though, was the annual Sweetheart Dance, an event suffused with the magic of Valentine's Eve.

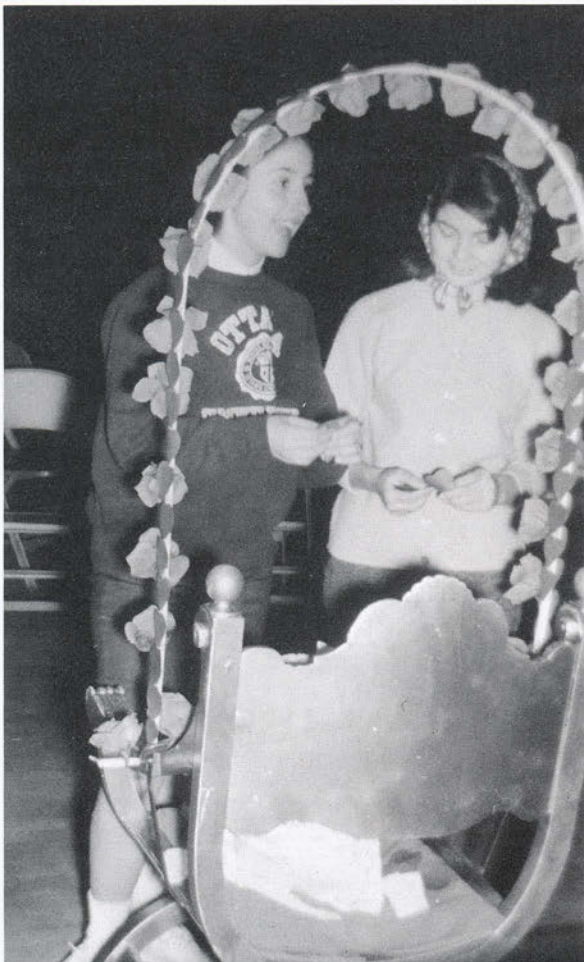

SPORTS SHORTS

"This hair has to go!"

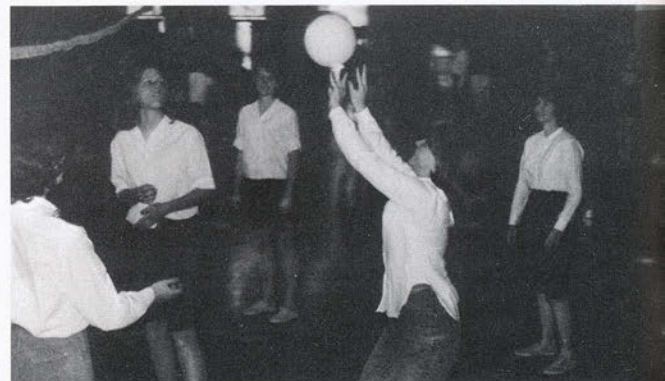

"Let's have two points for the seniors, Fran!"

History

Caution — Falling Book Zone

Midnight scholar at high noon

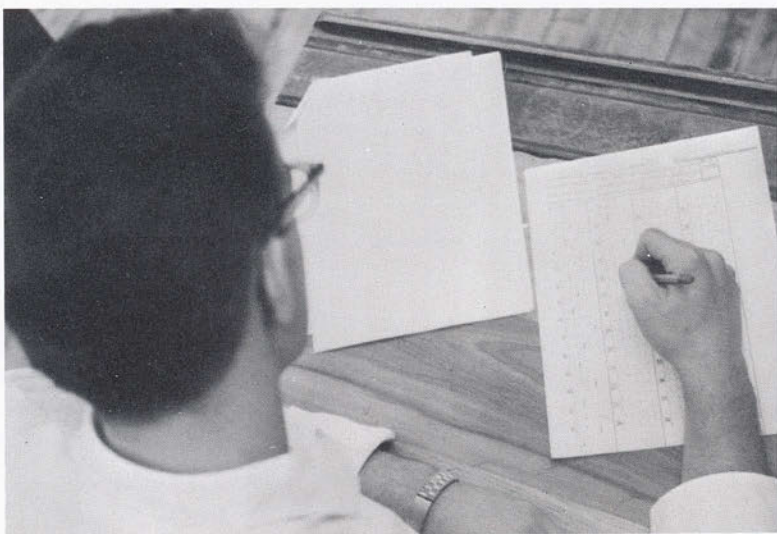

"Why are all the boys afraid to sit with us?"

HISTORY COMMITTEE

"And in the beginning . . ." there were A periods, B periods, double assemblies, registrations, guidance meetings and rallies. An endless kaleidoscope of new ideas and procedures made it seem almost as if there were no time for classes. But alas, there was time, as Pittsfield High assumed the activities of an institution of learning. The new horizons of knowledge, however, were spiced with social, cultural, and athletic events.

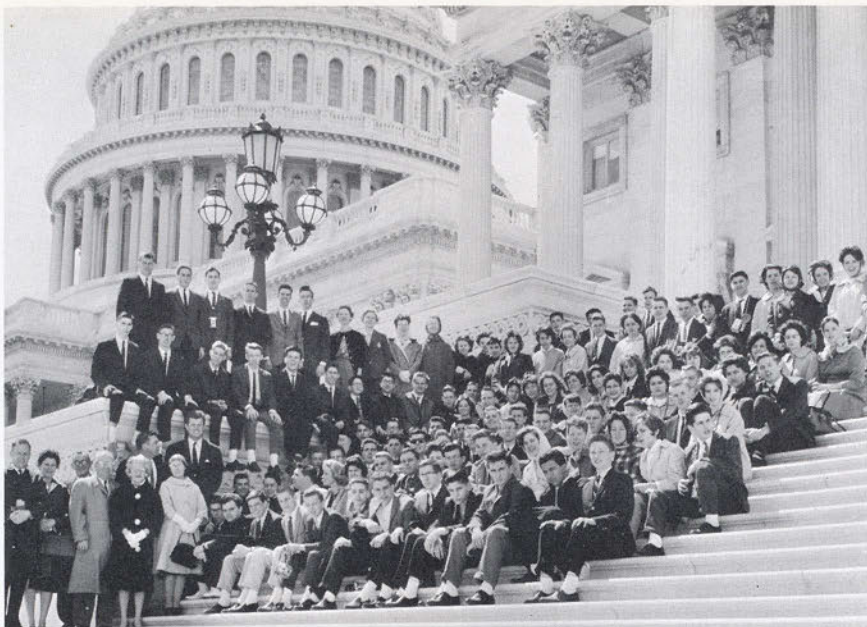

Who can forget the long, cold waits for the never-opening doors on winter mornings, the "checking" lines, or the solemn overcast of report card day?

Day of reckoning

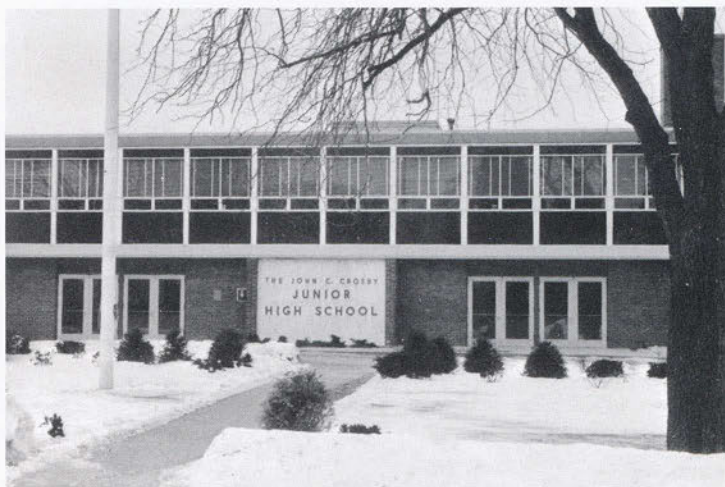

"Recalled to Life"

From Dome to Dome

We were soon initiated into the mysteries of Pittsfield High School. Fortunately there were seniors who readily offered their assistance in directing us through the maze of our new environment: first-floor labs, second-floor gym, third-floor cafeteria. Someone should have thought of a trail-guide for confused sophomores.

Over three hundred of our class, as sophomores, spilled over into Crosby Annex; but they joined us for the many activities of high school life — the clubs, the band on its parades and Washington trip, the Pep Club rallies and the marvelous production of Finian's Rainbow.

Temporary home for over three hundred sophomores

Even as a sophomore, Judy was a star.

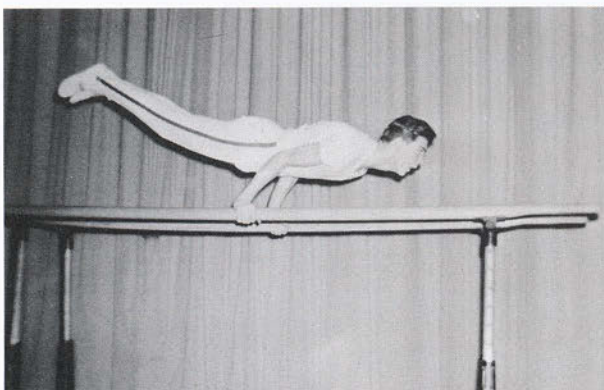

"So you want to get to West Point?"

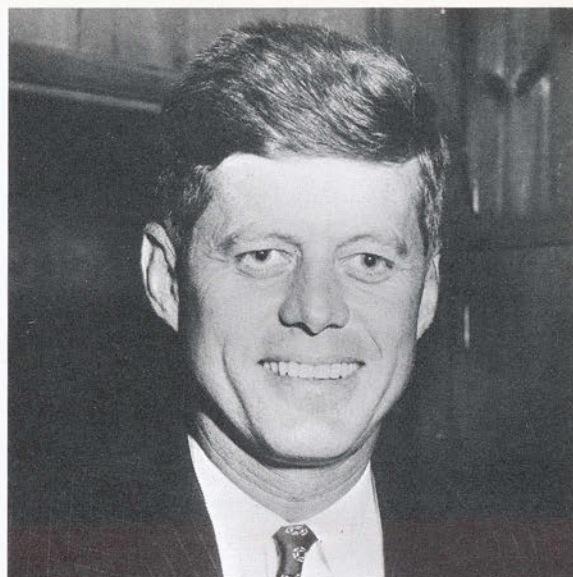

The Beatle Plague: Yeah! Yeah! Yeah!

The gathering of the hayseeds

"Was that a rip I heard?"

The death of President Kennedy was a sad moment in our history.

In many respects junior year was more than a giant step. This was a year of progressive advances. It was the year we gained the right to vote in class elections, to take College Boards, and to enhance our appearance with thirty-dollar rings. The greatest advance, however, was cultural — the arrival of the Beatles! Most of us found ourselves happily doing our homework to their musical stimulus.

Naturally there were additional extra-curricular activities, such as, the newly-formed debate club, the chess club, the school publications, and the crowning achievement — Li'l Abner, the all-school production.

In the midst of all our joyful memories of junior year, one sad November Friday stands out starkly — the death of President Kennedy. Like all the nation we spent our time of mourning, but life went on.

Finally came the dual climax of junior year, the Prom and Class Day, and we no longer were juniors.

"We're having a great time."

Passing on the torch — our last day as juniors

During our final year at Pittsfield High, we seniors experienced moments of fun and excitement but also of concern and anticipation. Many of us early in the year were using a portion of our time to fill out college application forms. Later, sleepy eyes, worried faces, and short tempers made it also apparent that in addition to doing schoolwork many students were spending tedious hours in preparation for the second try at College Boards. Still other students were getting a first hand taste of on-the-job training for future vocational experience.

It was not all work, though, as our social activities increased. A successful fall fashion show sent senior Cadettes on a wonderful trip to Washington. Another show plus a dance, a hootenanny, and a tooth brush and candy sale sent the band in the same direction.

Bulletin notices for seniors increased as committee chairmen went into operation and we were caught up in the struggle of finding time for all our meetings, extra-curricular activities and school-work.

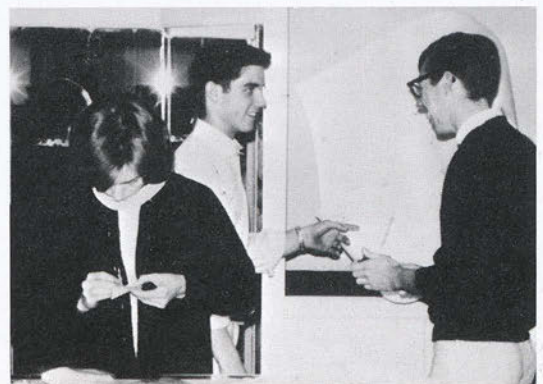

"I voted for the Longer-Lunch Period Party."

Fashions meet with the captains' approval.

"Generals, Generals, are the best!"

On the job training in Retail Sales.

The Safety Committee at work

"Whisper sweet nothings in my ear."

The epitome of concentration

Even the water shortage failed to dampen our enthusiasm. The G.A.A. Valentine Dance, quiet moments at a chess board or merry moments at a game, rehearsals for class production, yearbook deadlines — all came and went in rapid procession.

At times our days seemed to pass agonizingly slowly, but in reflection those three important years seem fleeting, so quickly has our chapter in the story of Pittsfield High been written.

"I want to go on now!"

Looking to the future

Honors

NATIONAL MERIT LETTERS OF COMMENDATION

The students shown on these, as well as on the following pages of the Honors Section, have widely varying lives, talents and goals. But they do have one thing in common: they have all in some way brought honor to themselves and to their school.

It is with pride, therefore, that we present the students who won National Merit recognition, either by being named semi-finalists or by being presented letters of commendation. They certainly have proved themselves to be of high scholastic rank. Out of the 807,000 students who took this nationwide test, only about two percent did this well. Pittsfield High School had more semi-finalists than any other public school in the state.

Certainly the entire school takes pride in the achievement of our fifty-two award winners.

Despite the belief that school politics are childish popularity contests, it is an honor to be a class officer or a member of either student or class council, and those who achieve this honor work hard to live up to the expectations of their classmates. It is also a privilege to be designated as a delegate to Boys' State or to the Student Government Day in Boston.

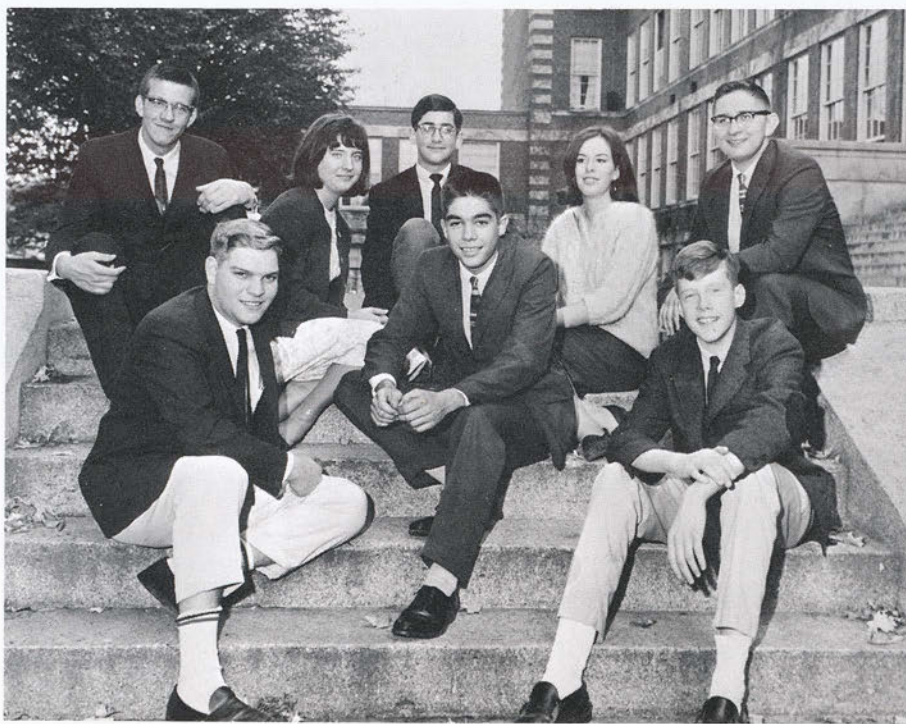

On Class Day last year we accepted the light passed on by the graduating seniors. We believe we have carried high that torch of learning.

REFLECTIONS

There were days when study seemed wasted, because it was impossible to accomplish anything, and other days when it seemed invaluable. In March spring made us restless, and we would do nothing but talk. Then would come test days when every minute was a valuable chance to master one more bit of information.

We have struggled these years to learn how to express ourselves. We have felt pride in personal accomplishments — in finally discovering how best to convey our thoughts or to create something with our own hands.

School spirit — that indefinable quality that unifies the students — is made up of so many little things. Rallies . . . confetti . . . beat tags . . . traditional city rivalry . . . our cadettes and cheerleaders — all have been an integral part of our high school years. Few students could help feeling excited over a P.H.S. victory — or a little sad over a loss . . .

We'll remember the cool, sunny football afternoons . . . the fast moving soccer and hockey games . . . those crowded Boys' Club bleachers and the dances afterward . . . the cokes and talk at the Friendly or MacDonald's.

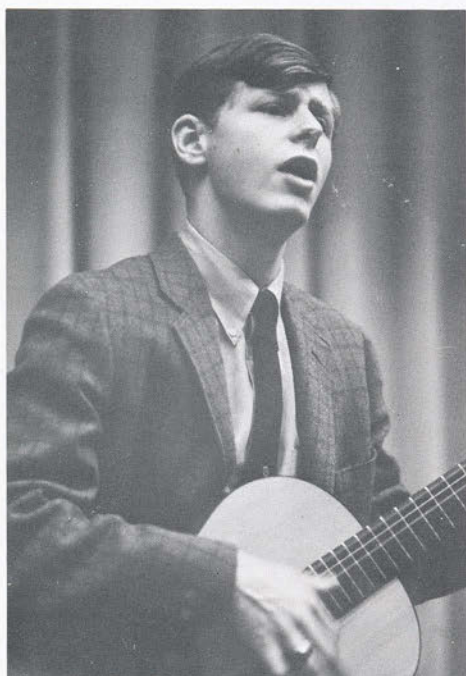

Perhaps we will never again shout ourselves hoarse for our boys in purple and white; but we can never forget the excitement, the fun, the tears, the joy that were caught up in our school spirit.

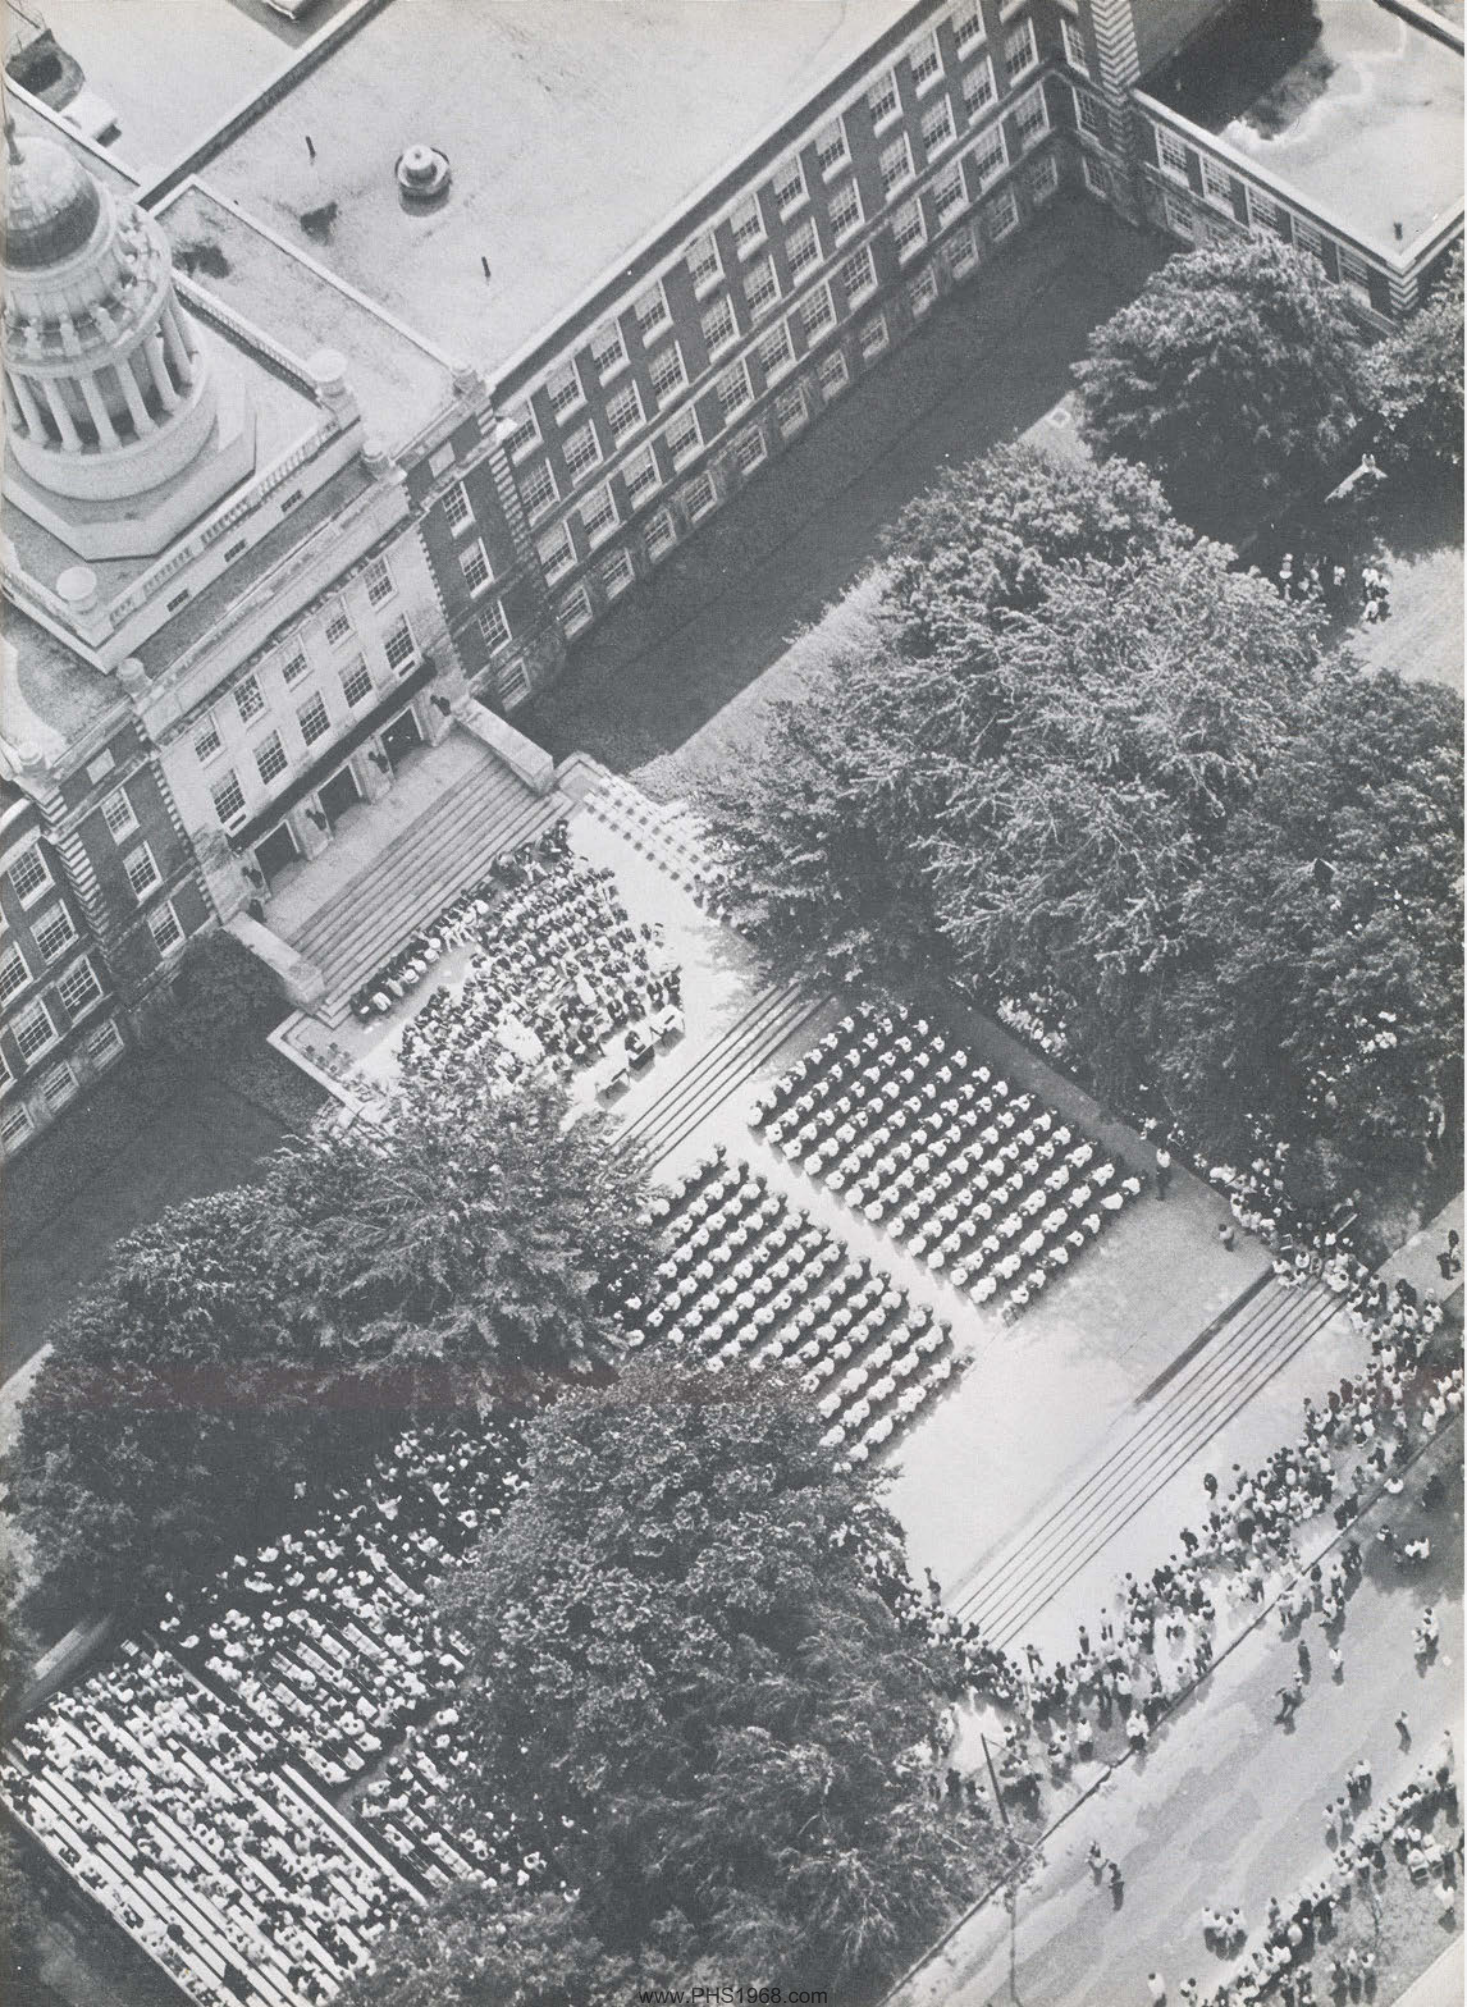

So much of our high school life was dictated by acceptability; every so often someone had to break away and be different. Often this would merely mark the person as someone who dared to be individual; sometimes, however, it would be the beginning of a new fad.

The fads and trends that were uniquely PHS '65 . . . no one will forget those green Army rain-coats and the bookbags . . . the Beatles and the Beach-boys . . . short skirts and textured stockings . . . the boys in their very slim pants . . . and all the long, straight hair. For many students it was the good old Friendly after school; for others, it was the library.

Our emotions ranged from exuberance to apathy . . . but on the whole we enjoyed life and were willing to try anything once. One moment a plaintive song would depress us, but soon boots splashing through puddles would revive us. We tried to know ourselves and others; we tried to look for the best and the most fun things in life. Our high school years were formative ones, starting us off on our life-long search.

In Appreciation

The staff of the 1965 Dome would like to express its sincere appreciation to all the people who have helped it in the publication of this yearbook. In particular we would like to thank the following people:

Our advisors — the Misses Elizabeth Enright, Laretta Guiltinan, Rosemary Haylon, and Mrs. Patricia O'Leary — for the many hours of work and patient guidance —

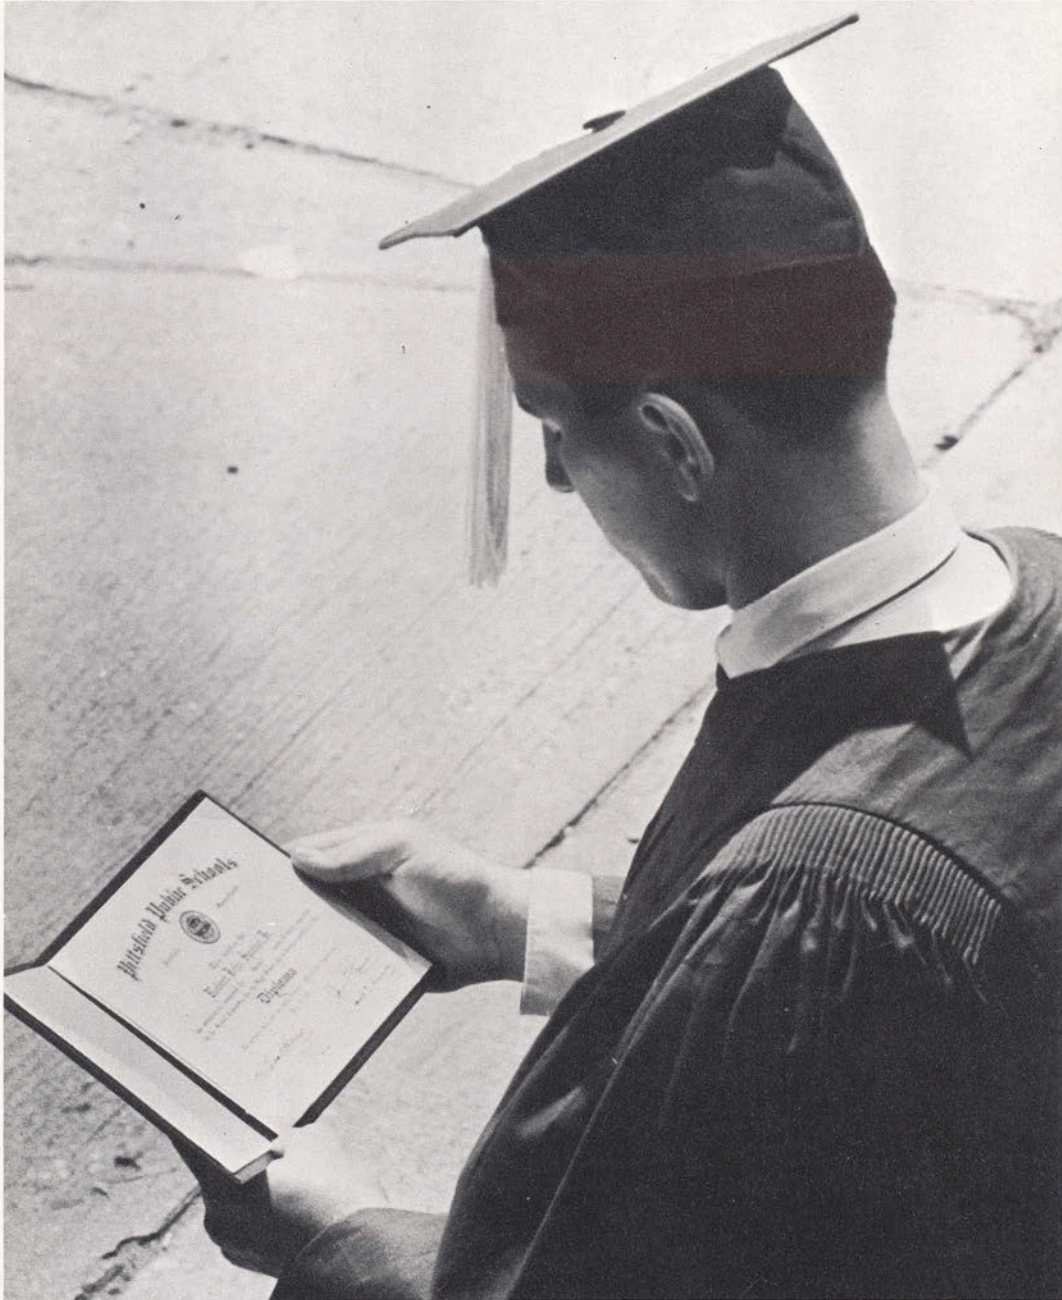

Mr. Eugene Mitchell for his advice and assistance in the photography —

Mr. Joel Librizzi and the Berkshire Eagle for the many photographs they contributed for our use —

Mr. J. Arthur Flynn of the O'Toole Publishing Company for his helpful advice —

Our advertisers and patrons for their financial assistance without which publication would be impossible.

Sparked by some outstanding individual performances, the Pittsfield High track team emerged with an unblemished record. They triumphed in all seven dual meets. This raised to eighteen a winning streak going back two years. The team averaged ninety-eight points a meet, while holding the opposition to thirty-three.

At the Western Massachusetts Relays they took two trophies, one for a record-breaking performance in the javelin relay and the other in the pole vault relay. At the Springfield Invitational meet, they were victorious over four of Springfield's best teams. Their outstanding record was really tested at the Western Massachusetts track meet, where Pittsfield became class AAA champions for a second year in a row, scoring twenty-five points more than the second place team. Seniors who set new school records were Co-Captain Greg Rusk in the two-mile, Paul Martino in the javelin, and Bob Calderwood in both the high and low hurdles.

GOLF

"This was a great season for the P.H.S. golf team," said Coach Murray enthusiastically, and he had every right to be enthusiastic. This year's golf team had written in the record books a story that would make anyone proud. Undefeated in league play, they went on to win the Northern Berkshire League as well as the Berkshire County and the Western Massachusetts Titles.

Coaching his first P.H.S. team, Mr. Murray was rightfully proud. "I, as coach, am proud of the way they competed," he said. "P.H.S. is fortunate in having this type of young man representing the school." We couldn't agree with Coach Murray more, and we would just like to add that P.H.S. should be proud to have such a great coach.

ATHLETIC AWARDS

Mr. Hennessy; Greg Clark — John Carmody Award; John Lovejoy — Thomas Curtin Medal; Chris Eulian — Ruth Nicholson Blazer; Greg Rusk — William Pierson Medal.

June 2 was Athletic Awards Day, the day when the school pays recognition to outstanding boy and girl athletes. In addition to the special award winners pictured at the left, members of PHS varsity teams received letters, and five seniors won the distinction of receiving three letters. They were John Lovejoy, Michael Massaconi, Gregory Rusk, William Stanhope, and John Unwin. The girl athletes received numerals, letters, and monograms. G.A.A. President Patricia Johnston received a special letter, and Jo-Ann Cadorette was the recipient of the G.A.A. bracelet. The award winners were rightfully proud of their achievement, and PHS was rightfully proud of them.

“STRONG AND CONTENT”

The metaphor comparing life to a road to be traveled is an old and, perhaps, overly-used one. Yet despite its seeming triteness, the quote taken from Whitman's Leaves of Grass is most appropriate. As we leave Pittsfield High School, we are strong; we realize that today, more than ever before, "Knowledge is power." We possess knowledge ranging from how to fix an automobile engine to how to orbit a satellite. We are content, not because we believe we know all that there is to know, but because the way has been made easier for us to learn and understand more. We have been given the essentials; the foundation of a life-long process of education has been laid. Though few of us will remember in ten years the dates of the Boer War, we will remember the basic concepts, and they will give us a better understanding of South Africa's position in the world today.

As Plato put it, "The beginning is the most important part of the work." Our years at Pittsfield High have been an auspicious beginning, and our graduation is not the end of our education, but just the end of the beginning.
